2. Pastoral Duties—Qualifications for the Ministry—Preaching—Public Prayer—Administration of Ordinances—Social Religious Meetings—Pastoral Visitation—Personal Spirit and Life.

Homiletics.

The course in this department extends through two years. It will furnish stated exercises to secure on the part of the student a mastery of principles, and of methods, and to form in him correct habits in the preparation and delivery of sermons. These exercises will consist of recitations from standard treatises and lectures ; preparation of skeletons and the composition and delivery of sermons for criticism before the Class ; examination and analyses of discourses of eminent preachers ; instruction in the training of the voice for speaking, and a course of sacred readings.

Special Lectures in 1874, by the Rev. Wayland Hoyt.

In addition to the above regular course of instruction, the officer in this department has secured a series of Lectures, to be delivered some time in March next before both the Classes, by the Rev. WAYLAND HOYT, of New York city. The purpose of this arrangement is to furnish the department with those suggestions which the practical experience of different minds may supply ; and thus vary and widen the range of instruction and criticism.

It is the intention to hereafter obtain the services of some one prominent preacher of the denomination each year.

Admission.

Students from all denominations of Christians are admitted. No charge is made for tuition.

Graduates of Colleges, and others, who, in the judgment of the Faculty, have attained an equivalent culture, are admitted to the regular course, and, on its successful completion, are entitled to a certificate as regular graduates of this Seminary.

Students, whose attainments are inadequate to the successful prosecution of all the prescribed studies, are admitted to a special course in Biblical Interpretation, Church History, Systematic Theology, Pastoral Duties and Homiletics ; and, on its completion, receive a certificate of graduation from the course accomplished.

Candidates for admission are required to furnish letters from their respective Churches, either licensing them to preach, or approving of their studying for the ministry, according to the usage of the denomination to which they belong. They are also expected to submit to the officers, a statement of their Christian experience and call to the ministry.

With a view to compress the Theological Course within two years, students for the Ministry in Madison University, study Hebrew and the Evidences of Revealed Religion as a part of their College Course; but students from other institutions who may not enter with this advantage, have ample provision made for the prosecution of these branches.

A course of instruction, embracing an additional year, is provided by the Faculty for such as desire to pursue further Theological study.

Examinations.

Public examinations are had at the close of each year upon the studies of the year. These examinations are conducted in the presence of a Committee appointed by the Board of Trustees; and the favorable report of this Committee is, in each case, necessary to graduation. Graduates from Madison University, and from other Colleges, who have received their First Degree, and have completed the course of studies in the Seminary, are entitled to the degree of A. M. from the University.

Societies.

The Theological Lyceum meets once in two weeks, to discuss Theological and other questions bearing upon the Ministry and Practical Christianity, one of the Faculty presiding. Members of the Seminary, in common with those of the University, participate in the exercises of the Society for Inquiry.

EBENEZER DODGE, D. D., LL.D., PRESIDENT.

Daily Recitations in Dodge's Evidences of Christianity.

Discussions in the Lecture Room on the relations of the Earlier Revelations to the Final One in Christ; on the Providential Character of the Greek and Roman Civilizations; on the Moral Value of the Great Religions of the Oriental World; and on the Sceptical Tendencies of Modern Thought.

Metaphysics.

Daily Recitations in "Porter's Human Intellect." These are confined, chiefly, to Psychology, properly so called.

Weekly Essays by the Class, illustrating the History of Modern Speculative Opinions.

Lectures by the President on the Fundamental Problems of Philosophy. These cover the great questions which divide the thinkers of the present age.

Books for Reference—Herbert Spencer's First Principles. Hamilton's Metaphysics.

II. Christian Ethics.

H. HARVEY, D. D., PROFESSOR

SENIOR CLASS.

SECOND TERM.—Daily Recitations in Wayland's Moral Science, embracing Theoretical Ethics and selections from Practical Ethics.

Written Analyses by the Class on selected chapters in Butler's Analogy and Alexander's Moral Science.

Discussions in the lecture room on the application of Ethics to current problems in life.

III. The Hebrew Language.

PHILETUS B. SPEAR, D. D., PROFESSOR.

Hebrew is taught in the First and Third Terms of the Senior Year. This language, coming to us from a high antiquity, and giving us the most ancient of the inspired records, is scarcely less important, in the study of Comparative Philology, than in the sound interpretation of the Scriptures.

The Course in this Department aims to give the elements, to fix in mind the tabular forms, the analysis of words, and the structure of the language, and to enable the student correctly to translate Hebrew into English and English into Hebrew. The parts read are selected from the Pentateuch and from Job.

The Text Books used are HAHN'S Hebrew Bible, or THEILE'S Genesis and Job, and GESENIUS' Lexicon. This Lexicon is condensed from GESENIUS' "Hebrew Thesaurus," a work of great learning and research. Gesenius' Grammar, translated by Dr. CONANT, is the Text Book. Ewald's, Nordheimer's, and Greene's Grammars, are used for reference. In beginning, the student is also aided by tabular forms and exercises on the board, or by some simplified elementary work.

IV. The Greek Language and Literature.

N. LLOYD ANDREWS, A. M., PROFESSOR.

This department embraces three terms in the Freshman, two in the Sophomore, and two in the Junior year. It aims, by critical study of the principal Greek authors, not only to teach the language, and promote a literary spirit, but to afford an insight into Greek life, an acquaintance with Greek thought, and a proper estimate of Greek civilization.

Freshman Year.

The first term is given to the study of Homer, the second to Greek Prose Composition, the third to Xenophon's Memorabilia. The main purpose during this year is to give thorough drill in the forms and syntax of the language. In connection with Homer, attention is also paid to Antiquities, and to the character and place of the Homeric poems in literature. The reading of the Memorabilia is accompanied with Class Essays on topics relating to Socrates and his Age. The Greek Testament occupies a weekly recitation through the year, designed to introduce the student to the peculiarities of the N. T. Greek.

Sophomore Year.

In the second term, selections from the Greek Historians are read, with Historical Essays by the Class. The third term is employed upon Demosthenes' "De Corona," with special reference to the principles of oratory illustrated, and to the political institutions of Greece.

Junior Year.

The first term is spent upon some Tragedy, or Comedy, or both, with attention to Greek Life and Art, and Class Essays upon the principal Greek Authors. The second term is devoted to some dialogue of Plato, with lectures on the Platonic Philosophy, and Class Essays upon the principal schools of Greek thought.

Books of Reference.

Liddell and Scott's Greek Lexicon. Anthon's Classical Dictionary. Smith's Dictionary of Antiquities. Grote's or Curtius' History of Greece. Browne's Greek Classical Literature. Long's Classical Atlas. Yonge's English-Greek Lexicon. Hadley's and Kühner's Greek Grammars. Goodwin's Greek Moods and Tenses. Pillon's Greek Synonyms. Gladstone's Juventus Mundi. Becker's Charicles.

V. The Latin Language and Literature.

EDWARD JUDSON, A. M., PROFESSOR.

The object of this department is not only to impart an accurate knowledge of the Latin language, but also, by the critical perusal of select passages from the best Latin authors, by the direct study of Roman History, and by the presentation of Lectures and Essays, unfolding political, literary and social aspects, to afford the student an insight into the life of Ancient Rome.

The course of study for the Collegiate year of 1873-74, is as follows:

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.—Livy, Lincoln.
 Latin Composition. Harkness' Introduction.
 Written Exercises, weekly.

THIRD TERM.—Horace. Lincoln.
 Prosody, and the Scanning of Horatian meters.
 Liddell's History of Rome, weekly.

Sophomore Class.

THIRD TERM.—Germania and Agricola of Tacitus. Tyler.
 Essays by the Class upon subjects connected with the Roman Empire.

Junior Class.

FIRST TERM.—The Satires and Epistles of Horace.—German edition with German notes. Essays upon Roman Antiquities. Written translations, paraphrases, and analyses of select portions of the Epistles, and of the Ars Poetica.

SECOND TERM.—Cicero's De Senectute and De Amicitia.

Books of Reference.

Andrews' Latin-English Lexicon.

Smith's Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities.

Smith's Dictionary of Greek and Roman Biography and Mythology.

Smith's Dictionary of Greek and Roman Geography.

Long's Classical Atlas.

Becker's Gallus.

Harkness' Latin Grammar.

Harkness' Latin Composition.

Liddell's History of Rome.

Niebuhr's, and Mommsen's, and Arnold's Histories of Rome.

Merivale's History of the Romans.

VI. The Modern Languages.

EDWARD JUDSON, A. M., PROFESSOR.

In the four terms allotted to the study of the Modern languages, it is proposed to impart such a practical knowledge of the pronunciation and of the grammatical forms of the two leading languages of continental Europe, that any student of capacity can afterwards, if he wishes, effectively pursue the study of them alone. An acquaintance, too, with the respective literatures will be promoted by the study of a standard work in each language, by lectures upon French literature, and by the perusal, on the part of the Class, with the aid of the instructor, of some French work treating of German literature. In addition to the instruction in German given in the Sophomore year, the study of that language will be continued by the use of German editions of the Latin authors, and of German notes upon the Latin read subsequently in the course. Another term of German is given in the Senior year to those who do not study Hebrew.

Sophomore Class.

FIRST TERM.—French Grammar,

College Plays,

French Composition. Written Exercises.

Magill.

Böcher.

Weekly lectures upon French literature, with copious translation from different authors.

SECOND TERM.—German Grammar.

Whitney.

Schiller's Wilhelm Tell.

Weekly lessons in Madame de Stael's L'Allemagne.

Senior Class.

FIRST TERM.—German,—Goethe's Egmont.

SECOND TERM.—German,—Goethe's Faust.

VII. Applied Mathematics, and the Natural Sciences.

L. M. OSBORN, LL.D., PROFESSOR.

FIRST TERM.—Chemical Physics and Inorganic Chemistry. Daily Recitations, with a written Review each week.

Junior Class.

SECOND TERM.—Snell's Mechanics entire.

THIRD TERM.—Snell's Pneumatics, Hydrostatics, Acoustics, Light, and Electricity. Geology, and Physical Geography. Lectures.

Senior Class.

SECOND TERM.—Loomis' Astronomy—The Solar System.

THIRD TERM.—Planetary Systems.

Comets and Fixed Stars, with a Review of the entire work.

Lectures and Recitations in Physiology.

VIII. Pure Mathematics.

JAMES M. TAYLOR, A. M., PROFESSOR.

Freshman Class.

FIRST TERM.—Solid and Spherical Geometry.

Olney.

SECOND TERM.—Algebra, beginning at Quadratics.

Olney.

THIRD TERM.—Plane, Analytical, and Spherical Trigonometry.

Olney.

Sophomore Class.

SECOND TERM.—Conic Sections and Analytical Geometry.

Olney.

THIRD TERM.—Surveying.

Davies.

IX. Logic.

ALEXANDER M. BEEBEE, D. D., PROFESSOR.

Junior Class.

FIRST TERM.—Formal Logic, with the Psychological phenomena involved. Induction and Deduction. Thorough application of the Syllogism in the analysis of fallacies and of argumentation. Relation of Logic to Rhetoric.

FOR REFERENCE—McCosh.

X. Civil History, English Literature, and Oratory.

JOHN JAS. LEWIS, A. M., PROFESSOR.

The study of Chaucer, and an acquaintance with the Saxon and Early English, form the basis of the studies in English Literature.

The reading of Hymns and of the Scriptures is one feature of the Elocutionary training in the Second Term of the Freshman year.

The writing of Class Essays, and of Prize Essays and Orations, has proved an invaluable labor, considered not merely as to immediate results and honors, but also considered with reference to broader culture and to the art of finished expression.

All the examinations are sustained in writing.

Freshman Class.

Exercises in Declamation and in Biographical Composition before the College Classes, twice in every week throughout the year.

SECOND TERM.—The Elements of Reading and Oratory.

Mandeville's System.

Rhetoric : Elocution and Pronunciation.

McIlvaine.

Chaucer's Knight's Tale and Prologue.

Carpenter.

Sophomore Class.

Exercises in Declamation and in Historical or Political Composition, before the College Classes, twice in every week throughout the year.

FIRST TERM.—Rhetoric : Style and Invention.

General Information.

The Course of Study,

Is adjusted to meet the needs of those who require Scientific, or Liberal Culture, without interference with the usual Classical or Mathematical Course. Those who do not wish to complete either the Classical or the Scientific Course, may take a Special Course, and recite in such classes as their qualifications will allow; but those in the Special Course cannot be candidates for a Degree, and they have no part at Commencement.

Students successfully pursuing the Liberal, or Scientific Course, are candidates for the Degree of Bachelor of Philosophy; and those who accomplish the entire Classical Course may receive the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Candidates for advanced classes are examined on all the previous studies of the Course. No person is admitted into the Freshman Class who has not completed his fourteenth year; or to a higher class without a corresponding advance in age. Every candidate is required to furnish evidence of a good moral character, and if from another College, a certificate of regular dismissal.

Requirements for Admission.

CLASSICAL COURSE.

IN MATHEMATICS: Candidates are examined in Arithmetic, Algebra to Quadratics, and in Plane Geometry.

IN LATIN: Two books of Cæsar's Commentaries; six orations of Cicero, of which one shall be that for the Manilian Law, and one that for the poet Archias; six books of Virgil's Æneid; Allen and Greenough's, or Harkness's Latin Grammar.

IN GREEK: Goodwin's, Hadley's, or Crosby's Greek Grammar. Three books of Xenophon's Anabasis.

IN ENGLISH: Grammar, Geography, U. S. History.

The presentation of a Regents' Certificate will hereafter suffice without further examination in English Grammar and Geography.

SCIENTIFIC COURSE.

Candidates are examined in Arithmetic complete, English Grammar, Algebra to Quadratics, Modern Geography, Plane Geometry, History of the United States, Elementary Rhetoric, and the elements of Latin.

Modern Languages.

Those desiring to learn to speak the modern languages for missionary, mercantile, or other purposes, can receive private instruction in addition to the instruction in the prescribed Course. After the second Term of the Sophomore Year, the study of German is continued in the use of German editions of Classical Authors.

University Buildings.

The "Hall of Alumni and Friends" contains an Alumni Chapel, College Chapel, Library, and ten Lecture Rooms. The two College buildings are mainly occupied by Students' rooms. They have been reconstructed and repaired at an expense of $8000. Besides Students' Rooms, they contain a number of public rooms. West College has a Reading Room, a room for the Natural Sciences, and a room for Natural History; East College has two Recitation Rooms, and two Halls for the Literary Societies.

There are, also, on the premises, a President's House, a Gymnasium, a Boarding Hall, and Professors' Houses.

Library and Apparatus.

The Libraries contain 10,860 volumes, well selected and in good order. Of these, the University Library contains 9,000 volumes of choice works, having been selected mainly with a reference to the aid which they would directly render both Teacher and Pupil in the course of studies marked out. A large portion of the books has been imported, and is made up of the most valuable works extant in Hebrew, Greek, Latin, and the Modern Languages, in History, Natural Science, English and Classical Literature, Ethics and Theology. There is an extensive Cabinet of Minerals and of Geological Specimens, and the Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus has been recently enlarged.

Natural History.

Through Professor BICKMORE, and the liberality of a few patrons, the University has secured a very fine collection, embracing a complete list of North American Birds, 700 or more European Birds, and a large variety of the Birds of the Tropics. Many of these the Professor secured while traveling in Japan and the East. This collection is valued at $13,000.

Beneficiaries.

Candidates for the Ministry, in the College and Theological Seminary, of suitable character and talents, may enjoy the patronage of the Education Society. The amount furnished was designed to meet the expense of tuition and board ; but varies somewhat, according to the nature of the Scholarship, or the appropriation made. By an act of the Board of Trustees, the Society has let the Boarding Hall, under certain restrictions. At the close of each term, the Beneficiary receives his appropriation or the income on his Scholarship, and is held responsible to pay this promptly for his tuition and board.

Religious Societies.

The SOCIETY FOR INQUIRY has connected with it the Monthly Concert of Prayer for Missions, on which occasion a report is presented on some subject bearing upon the objects of the Society.

Through members and correspondents there has been collected a well selected Missionary Library of 800 volumes, and a Museum with a variety of Curiosities from Greece, Hindostan, Burmah, Siam, China, Mexico, and other Missionary Fields, illustrative of the customs, manners, arts, and dress of those countries.

Religious Culture.

Madison University was founded in prayer. By personal contact and influence, discipline of the heart is sought, as well as discipline of the mind. A fervent and healthful piety is directly encouraged. A weekly Prayer Meeting is held by each Class, and a University Prayer Meeting meets every Sunday afternoon.

All Students are required to attend the daily Chapel Exercises, which open the duties of the day.

Consultation with the President.

In order to promote the relations which ought to exist between Instructor and Student, the President has set apart Tuesday and Friday afternoons of each week, from half-past two o'clock until five o'clock ; at which time he will meet such as may wish to consult him.

The Trevor Educational Fund.

This Fund of $40,000.00 establishes Forty Scholarships—Twenty Free Tuition Scholarships of $30.00 a year each, and Twenty Full Scholarships of $90.00 a year each—for the benefit of Soldiers who have served in the Army or Navy of the United States. "Soldiers, or their Orphan Sons ; or Sons not orphan ; or their Brothers ; or those dependent on Soldiers for support—and in this order of preference—shall have the benefit of these Scholarships in connection with the Grammar School, or College, or Theological Seminary, under the General University Rules."

It is provided in all cases that if the applicant has not adequate means of his own to rely on for his education, and that if he in no way forfeits it, he may have the benefit of a Scholarship for a full course of study. Written application may be had to the Treasurer, or to any member of the Faculty, giving name, age, residence, purpose, means of support, and the military service performed.

 The invested Funds of the University, embracing Jubilee Fund, amount in all to $300,000.00. These funds can be used for no other than the specific purpose for which they were given.

It is hoped that the attention of Patrons will be directed to the importance of enlarging the Library Fund and the General Endowment Fund, or to creating other distinct Funds and Chairs of Instruction, which the growth and highest usefulness of the University demand.

Examinations.

There are examinations, oral or written, of all the classes, at the close of each Term, on the studies of the term ; and of the Senior Class, four weeks before Commencement, for their degree. These examinations are conducted publicly, by a committee appointed by the Faculty, and are made a test of the student's standing and scholarship.

Diplomas.

Those who complete the College Course, and sustain examination on the studies of the same, are entitled to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Those who have been engaged in Literary Pursuits during at least three years from the time of their College Graduation, and those who, having received their First Degree, pursue the regular Theological Course in this institution, and sustain examination on the studies of the same, upon application are entitled to the Degree of Master of Arts. Those who complete the Scientific Course, are entitled to the Degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, and those who are dismissed from any part of the regular course, are entitled to a Certificate showing their standing and attainments.

No Degree, however, can be conferred or Certificate given, unless the applicant shall have sustained a good moral character, settled all College Bills, and returned all books to the Library.

The Fee for the Degrees in Course, including Diploma, is FIVE DOLLARS each, payable in advance.

Expenses.

Tuition in the Theological Seminary is free. In the College, $30.00 per year. In Colgate Academy, $20.00. Room Rent* is $9.00 per year. Incidentals, $8.00. Sacred Music, $1.00. These expenses are payable each term in advance, as per following Term Bills:

In the Theological Seminary, (Inc. Exp.)...	$ 3.00, or per year, $ 9.00
In the College,.....	16.00, or per year, 48.00
In the Grammar School,...	13.00, or per year, 39.00

No deduction on account of absence, unless the student fall back in his class.

Board is furnished by the Steward on his own responsibility, at $3.00 per week, payable each term in advance. Students club together, or board themselves, at a lower rate. The price of board in good families varies from $3.00 to $4.50.

Total expenses for the year: Theological Seminary, $129.00; College, $168.00; Grammar School, $159.00.

Students furnish their own Rooms.

☞ On Monday, in the second week in each term, each student, before he can proceed, must present to the officer, in the Recitation or Lecture Room, a Receipt or Certificate from the Treasurer, showing that his Term Bills are duly settled; and those who come later must do the same before they proceed.

Merit Roll.

Each Officer grades the Scholarship of his pupils at each day's performance on the following Scale of Merit: Maximum Grade, 5; Superior, 4; Medium, 3; Inferior, 2; Minimum, 1. At the close of each Term, the average standing is recorded.

He marks unexcused delinquencies on the scale of Demerit, as follows: Tardiness, 2; Failure, 3; Absence from Recitation, Chapel, or Church, 5. The accumulation of these, at every count of fifteen, exposes the Student to Admonition, then to a Report to his Parents or Guardians, then to Probation and Dismission.

*Those who have the Ministry in view are not charged with Room Rent.

Prizes.

Four Hundred and Twenty-Five Dollars Annually Awarded.

The Dodge Prize Examination.

The four following FRESHMAN PRIZES have been established :

To the Three Students from the Grammar School, whose standing shall be highest at the close of the Senior Grammar School Examination, will be awarded at the Grammar School Exhibition,—a 1st Prize of $30.00,—a 2d of $25.00,—a 3d of $20.00.

The Fourth Dodge Prize of $20.00, may be competed for by students entering from other preparatory schools, and also by such members of the Senior Academic Class as have entered the Class during the year.

This examination must be passed before the Saturday of the opening week.

The officers hearing the Freshman Class, are the Committee on Examination and Award. No student can receive this prize unless his papers average 4.

The Baldwin Classical Prizes.

These Prizes are provided for the Junior Class by Judge D. P. BALDWIN, Class of 1856, Logansport, Ind. The examinations, from printed papers, are exclusively in writing, and are upon some author, or work of an author, not read by the Class in their course. No student can compete unless his standing in all departments average at least 4. The examinations embrace both grammar and subject matter, with exercises in prose composition. The prizes, one in Latin, and one in Greek, will be $25.00 each. The awards will be made by distinguished scholars not connected with the University. For the present year, the Latin Examination will occur May 15th, 1874, on the Tenth Satire of Juvenal ; the Greek Examination, May 29th, 1874, on Plutarch's "Delay of the Deity." The arbitrator in Latin will be Prof. HEMAN H. SANFORD, Ph. D., of Syracuse University ; in Greek, Prof. ALBERT HARKNESS, LL.D., of Brown University.

The Lasher Prize Essays.

Colgate Academy.

This Department of the University has heretofore existed under the name of the Grammar School. During the past year it has been separated from the College, and has received the name of Colgate Academy. It has now a commodious building of its own, and a full Board of Trustees. A Catalogue of this Department will be issued some time during the present winter.

Persons desiring information concerning the Academy, may address the Principal, Professor FRANCIS W. TOWLE.
